

FATHEELA BROVKO

Acting Chief Executive Officer, Mine Health and Safety Council

Ms. Fatheela Brovko is the Chief Research Operations Officer at the MHSC, where she leads the Research and Development Unit which includes several health and safety technical and research advisory committees. She plays a key role in advancing the MHSC's strategic mandate to improve health and safety in the South African mining sector, ensuring that research, legislation and regulations are responsive, relevant and aligned to address both current and emerging challenges faced by the mining industry.

With over 18 years of experience spanning mining and mining research, she is strongly committed to evidence-based decision-making and to supporting the MHSC's vision of ensuring that every mineworker returns home unharmed every day.
