

DR AMY KAHN

Research Specialist, CeSTII

Dr Amy Kahn is a Research Specialist at the National Advisory Council on Innovation's (NACI) Centre for Science, Technology and Innovation Indicators (CeSTII), which is currently located within the Human Sciences Research Council (HSRC).

She serves as project manager of the Business Innovation Survey (BIS), a nationally significant study funded by the Department of Science, Technology and Innovation. Her research examines the relationships between technological and non-technological innovation and business productivity in South Africa, with a particular focus on the manufacturing and services sectors.