

BRIAN NCUBE

Minerals Council South Africa

Brian is a dynamic Electrical Engineer with over 14 years progressive leadership experience across mining, engineering, infrastructure, and regulatory environments.

Brian has extensive experience in safety systems, behavioural risk management and operational performance improvement. In his role as Senior Policy Analyst at the Minerals Council South Africa, and in collaboration with mining industry stakeholders, Brian is advancing evidence-based safety policy, strengthening safety culture, and supporting industry-wide initiatives that promote zero harm across the South African mining sector.