MINERALS COUNCIL CONVEYS BEST WISHES TO MINISTER MANTASHE, WISHING HIM A SPEEDY RECOVERY

Johannesburg, 21 July 2020. The Minerals Council South Africa conveys its best wishes for a speedy recovery to Mineral Resources and Energy Minister Gwede Mantashe, who was hospitalised yesterday after testing positive for COVID-19 last week.

We also wish well his wife, Nolwandle, who is recovering from the virus at home.

Says CEO Roger Baxter: “Minister Mantashe has been at the forefront of government’s efforts to safeguard lives and livelihoods during this difficult period. His leadership has been crucial to stabilising the mining sector over the past two years. The Minerals Council Office Bearers, staff and members all hope that Minister Mantashe and Mrs Mantashe will both recover well and return to full health. We look forward to the return of Minister Mantashe and working together to revive the mining sector and our economy.”
